

Where Vision Meets Healthcare Impact

Bridging the gap between breakthrough medical innovation and the people who need it most.

ABOUT THE FOUNDATION

The David Kipnis Foundation (DKF) was founded in memory of David Kipnis — a man whose quiet strength, deep generosity, and belief in the power of giving shaped everyone around him. His legacy inspires a mission to make advanced healthcare accessible and to invest in the people and ideas that can transform medicine.

DKF connects visionary medical professionals with the resources they need to turn breakthrough ideas into real-world impact. From funding early-stage research to supporting clinical innovation, the foundation operates at the intersection of science, technology, and human compassion.

THE FOUNDERS

Alin Kipnis

Co-Founder & Chairman

Co-founder of one of Israel's most valued defense-technology companies — a global leader in advanced imaging systems. With decades of experience building ventures across defense, design, and real estate, Alin brings strategic precision shaped by scaling a startup into a multi-billion-dollar enterprise — now channeled entirely into healthcare impact.

Ira Fradkin

Co-Founder & Director

With a degree in Biology and years of hands-on experience in clinical research at global pharmaceutical companies and leading hospitals, Ira understands healthcare from the inside. She holds a degree in Multidisciplinary Design — a unique combination that allows her to see both the science behind medical innovation and the human experience it serves.

Carine Bar Or

Co-Founder & CEO

With over a decade of experience in the philanthropic sector, Carine has held senior leadership roles at some of Israel's and America's most respected foundations. Her career spans strategic grantmaking, national program management, and community empowerment. Philanthropy is her calling — driven by a deep love for giving and a belief that structured generosity can transform lives.
